"BESTED" HER MOTHER WATCH,

A LONG AND LIVELY CHASE AFTER A RUNAWAY DAUGHTER.

THE GIRL FINALLY GETS AWAY

Disappeared Some Days Ago, but Is Seen in Front of One of She Has Talent for the Stage.

Mrs. Sarah Chew. of No. 183 Prospect street, is still missing. She ran away from home on Saturday night, and her mother is anxious to learn her whereabouts that she may have her arrested and placed in sominstitution. Directly Agnes went off, he mother notified the police of the Second Precinct, and a general alarm, with a description of the girl, was sent out, and on Monday the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children was notified. At present Agnes has not been located.

Until Wednesday Mrs. Chew thought that her daughter had gone away from the city on Saturday night with some theatrical company, as of late the girl had been con tinually talking about going on the stage near the Theatre about the hour of the matinee on Wednesday and endeavored to catch her. Agnes was with two other girls, who were flashily dressed, and when the girl caught sight of her mother she ran to the corner of Gallatin place, and then along Livingston street to Hoyt, her mother following. The girl, being the more fleet of foot, succeeded She Drove Joseph Kosko to Take in escaping. Mrs. Chew then went around to the Galety and Grand Opera and told the officers on duty there to arrest the girl if she made her appearance.

Florida's Exposition Opened.

sub-tropical exposition was opened here to-day. Gov. Fleming made the obscung appeals in the presence of 12,000 people. He extended a cordial and earnest invitation to all who desired to settle in the State. John E. Hartridge, the best speaker, spoke of the discovery of phosphate stone in Monthern Figuria.
